

Dominican Republic power distribution box inventory

Overview

In the Dominican Republic, there are three distribution companies. The government owns two of them, EdeNorte and EdeSur, through the CDEEE (50%) and the Fondo Patrimonial de las Empresas (FONPER). Overview The power sector in the has traditionally been, and still is, a bottleneck to the country's economic. in the Dominican Republic is dominated by thermal units fired mostly by imported oil or gas (or). At the end of 2006, total installed capacity of public utilities was 3,394. Distribution networks cover 88% of the population, with about 8% of the connections thought to be illegal. Government plans aim to reach 95% total coverage by 2015. Service quality in the Dominican Republic has suffered a steady deterioration since the 1980s. Frequent and prolonged blackouts result mainly from financial causes (i.e. high system losses and low bill collection) t. The National Energy Commission (Comisión Nacional de la Energía, CNE) is the policy agency, one of its main responsibilities being the elaboration of the National Energy Plan. The CNE presented in 2004 th.
