

Floating optical cable manufacturer direct sales

AI Overview

Several global and European fiber optic cable manufacturers offer subsea or specialty cables suitable for floating optical applications, with direct sales available through corporate channels. Leading Manufacturers Tratos Group (Italy) Tratos Group specializes in subsea and specialty fiber optic cables, including solutions for underwater communications and power transmission. They have over 50 years of experience and emphasize customized cable solutions for industrial, energy, and marine applications. Direct sales inquiries can be made through their corporate website or regional offices. WEINERT Industries AG (Germany) WEINERT offers a wide range of special optical fibers and hybrid cables, including radiation-hard and polymer optical fibers. Their full vertical integration allows for tailored solutions, which can include floating or marine-compatible optical cables. Direct procurement is possible via their sales team. Upcom Technologies (Turkey) Upcom Technologies produces high-performance fiber optic cables for telecommunications and data networking, including FTTH and data center solutions. While primarily terrestrial, they also provide customized cable assemblies that can be adapted for floating or offshore applications. Direct sales are supported through their corporate contacts. TKH Group / Optral (Netherlands / Spain) TKH Group, through Optral, manufactures industrial and telecommunication fiber optic cables, including custom cable solutions for harsh environments. Their expertise in robust and durable cable design makes them suitable for floating optical cable projects. Direct sales and project consultations are available via their global offices. Global Suppliers (International) Platforms like GlobalSpec list over 1,000 fiber optic cable manufacturers and distributors worldwide, including companies that specialize in marine and subsea fiber optic solutions.
