

Intel 400G optical module

Overview

The Intel® Silicon Photonics 400G DR4+ (Data center Reach 4-lane with extended reach) QSFP-DD Optical Transceiver is a small form-factor, high speed, and low power consumption product, targeted for use in optical interconnects for data communications applications. A 400G optical module performs photoelectric conversion: With a 400 Gbps transmission rate, these modules support industry evolution from 100M → 1G → 25G → 40G → 100G → 400G → 1T. They form the backbone of high-throughput data center networks and AI clusters. The high bandwidth module supports FS provides an expanding portfolio of 400G OSFP/QSFP112/QSFP-DD solutions featuring high-performance, high-bandwidth, and backward compatibility. Click to get your 400G transceiver. PAM4 (4-Level Pulse Amplitude Modulation): This is the predominant modulation technique used in 400G modules. Multi-Mode Fiber (MMF):. Explore the architecture, key technologies, applications, and future trends of 400G coherent optical devices in modern high-speed fiber networks. It converts electrical signals into optical signals and vice versa, enabling data transmission over optical fibers. The demand for 400G optics has been fueled by.
